ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT OF THE CONSTRUCTION WORKPLACE MISCLASSIFICATION ACT

W. GERARD OLEKSIK, SECRETARY, PENNSYLVANIA DEPARTMENT OF LABOR & INDUSTRY

MARCH 1, 2020
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

The Construction Workplace Misclassification Act, 43 P.S. §§ 933.1–933.17 (Act 72 or Act), went into effect on February 10, 2011. The Act prohibits employers from misclassifying construction workers who do not satisfy all the definitional criteria of an independent contractor as independent contractors. The Act establishes a definition of independent contractor for purposes of workers’ compensation, unemployment compensation, and Act 72.

Act 72 grants administrative enforcement powers to the Secretary of Labor & Industry (Secretary). The Department of Labor & Industry’s (Department) Bureau of Labor Law Compliance (BLLC or Bureau) enforces the Act on behalf of the Secretary. The Office of Attorney General and local district attorneys have concurrent jurisdiction for the prosecution of the Act’s criminal provisions.

Act 72 provides for the imposition of criminal and administrative penalties against employers, or officers or agents thereof, found to have committed violations. Additionally, the Act empowers the Secretary to petition a court to issue a stop-work order mandating the partial or complete cessation of work at the site of an ongoing intentional misclassification.

Section 4(c) of the Act authorizes the Secretary to undertake remedial action if there is evidence establishing that a person has violated the Act. Section 10(a) explicitly prohibits an employer from discriminating in any manner or taking adverse action against any person for exercising any right protected by the Act, including the filing of a complaint with the Department or informing any person about an employer’s noncompliance. Section 10(b) makes clear that a complainant’s failure to prevail on the merits of employer noncompliance allegations does not remove the retaliation prohibition set forth in subsection (a), so long as the complainant’s allegations were made in good faith. Finally, section 10(c) creates a rebuttable presumption that the taking by an employer of adverse action against a person within 90 days of that person’s exercise of rights protected by the Act constitutes prohibited retaliation.

Section 14 of the Act requires the Department to submit annually, by March 1, a report to Pennsylvania’s General Assembly “detailing, to the maximum extent possible, data on the previous calendar year’s administration and enforcement of [Act 72].” The Department is permitted to include in the report all relevant facts and statistics that it believes to be necessary.

Section 17 of the Act provides that “[t]he Department shall not be required to enforce this Act until adequate funding is appropriated.” The Bureau continues to enforce the provisions of Act 72, and collect penalties, despite never receiving any additional funding for the Act’s administration.

Bureau of Labor Law Compliance Overview

The BLLC enforces and administers the following 13 laws: Construction Workplace Misclassification Act (Act 72), Prevailing Wage Act, Wage Payment and Collection Law, Minimum Wage Act, Child Labor Act, Apprenticeship and Training Act, Prohibition of Excessive Overtime in Health Care Act (Act 102), Seasonal Farm Labor Act, Industrial Homework Law, Personnel File Inspection Act, Employer to Pay Employment Medical Examination Fee Act, Equal Pay Law, and, as of October 2020, the Construction Industry Employee Verification Act.

Current Bureau Complement

To complete these tasks, the Bureau has a staff complement of 38. The Director's office includes the Director, program managers, and clerical support. Each of BLLC's regional offices includes a supervisor and investigative team. The Bureau currently has 26 investigators on staff; each is responsible for all 13 labor and safety laws. The staff complement breakdown is as follows:

Enforcement Overview

Act 72 prohibits contractors from treating construction employees as independent contractors. The Act provides that for a worker to be deemed an independent contractor, the worker must: (1) have a written contract to perform services, (2) be free from control or direction over the performance of work under contract, and (3) be customarily engaged in an independently established trade or business.

There are six factors that establish an independent trade or business: (1) Worker possesses his/her own essential tools and equipment; (2) Worker realizes profit or loss through services; (3) Worker has a proprietary interest in business through which services are performed; (4) Worker has a business location separate from contractor; (5) Worker previously performed similar services for others, holds himself/herself out to do work for others, and is free from direction or control of the contractor; and (6) Worker maintains liability insurance of at least $50,000.

How the Department Enforces Act 72

Act 72 is primarily enforced by BLLC, which currently has 26 investigators in five district offices throughout the commonwealth.

Alleged violations are assigned to an investigator who interviews the contractor and workers and requests all pertinent documentation, such as a copy of the contract and the insurance certificate.

If there is evidence of a violation, the case is referred to the Department's Office of Chief Counsel for prosecution, unless there is a settlement.

If there is not conclusive evidence of a violation, the investigation is closed after review by a supervisor.

There are three mechanisms for finding alleged Act 72 violations:

- (1) complaints filed with the Bureau,
- (2) findings made during construction job site visits, and
- (3) referrals from other agencies.

The following table represents a historical accounting of Act 72 cases the Bureau investigated since the inception of the law in February 2011 through 2019:

YEAR 2011	27 CASES
YEAR 2012	9 CASES
YEAR 2013	25 CASES

YEAR 2017	211 CASES
YEAR 2018	182 CASES
YEAR 2019	192 CASES

Cases filed with BLLC in 2019

In 2019, with continued awareness of the Act and increased enforcement, a significant number of cases were investigated. A breakdown of the district office caseload is as follows:

Office	Case count
Altoona	22
Harrisburg	26
Scranton	55
Pittsburgh	37
Philadelphia	52
TOTALS	192

2019 Construction Site Visits

The Bureau of Labor Law Compliance conducted over 370 on-site investigations of construction sites. During the visits, Bureau investigators distributed educational materials, interviewed workers, and reviewed payroll information. Several of these visits generated follow-up correspondence or investigations under Act 72.

Department Internal Taskforce

In an effort to maximize resources, the Bureau established an internal taskforce with the Department's Office of Unemployment Compensation Tax Services (OUCTS) and the Bureau of Workers Compensation. The taskforce has regular reoccurring meetings to share information, initiate and further task force investigations, and discuss strategies. The taskforce's focus on misclassification has extended beyond the scope of the construction industry.

Unemployment Compensation Tax Services

OUCTS routinely performs unemployment compensation tax audits on all Pennsylvania businesses. OUCTS has data sharing agreements with the Internal Revenue Service, Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, and Pennsylvania Compensation Rating Bureau that provide an avenue to cross-matched data to identify employers that may not be registered or identify employers reporting different employment levels to different agencies during the same timeframe.

During the course of OUCTS's audits, the results may reveal that businesses have misclassified employees as independent contractors. From 2016 through 2018, OUCTS found 460 construction employers had misclassified 4,074 employees as independent contractors in the construction industry and pinpointed $98 million in underreported wages. In 2019, OUCTS found 163 construction employers had misclassified 1,347 employees as independent contractors, representing $27.2 million in underreported wages.

Once OUCTS has concluded its audit on construction employers and received either payment from the employer for its misclassification or a final determination from an adjudicator that an employer misclassified its workers, the information is given to the Bureau for Act 72 enforcement.

Stop-Work Orders under the Act

Under the Act, the process for the Secretary to shut down a jobsite is as follows: (1) the Department must receive information that there is a potential violation; (2) the Bureau must conduct an investigation into the allegation; (3) the Department must issue an administrative Order to Show Cause; (4) the employer is afforded 20 days to file an answer in writing; (5) the employer is then provided notice and a hearing is conducted; (6) if evidence presented at the hearing establishes the finding of a violation, the Secretary must petition a court of competent jurisdiction for an Order; and (7) the employer must be served the Order so it may take effect.

As of December 31, 2019, the Secretary had not initiated proceedings to issue a shut-down order on a jobsite.

Adjudications of Act 72 complaints

Conclusion: Future Enforcement Efforts under Act 72

Increased enforcement and education will help vulnerable workers, who are unaware of the Act or fear retaliation if they file a complaint, to better understand their rights under the law. The Bureau will continue its educational efforts by proactively engaging industry organizations and workers through informative presentations, as well as making Act 72 posters available at construction sites (in both English and Spanish) and other locations where day laborers may be looking for work.

The Bureau will continue to actively investigate all Act 72 complaints it receives. Moreover, the Bureau will continue to visit construction job site visits and look for Act 72 violations, along with violations of the other laws it enforces. It will also continue to work closely with other agencies and conduct joint investigations where feasible.

The Bureau will continue to actively participate at regular internal taskforce meetings with OUCTS and the Bureau of Workers Compensation, share information, and engage in strategic investigations to maximize the Department's resources. The Department remains committed to ensuring that construction employers are not misclassifying workers as independent contractors.
